

The Maple Counseling Center

TMCC Tweets

Follow us on twitter

TMCC by the Numbers

In the first half of 2014, TMCC is proud to have provided the following services:

12,505 hours of therapy at the Center

242 sessions of in-school counseling were provided to Beverly Hills High School students

199 service hours have been provided through the new Kapelovitz Psychiatry Program

171 new clients started counseling at the Center

$24.31 average fee per counseling session

Four New Members Join TMCC's Board of Directors

Since the start of 2014, The Maple Counseling Center has invited four new members to join its Board of Directors:

Roy Essakow, a native of South Africa, runs a multifamily investment office in Beverly Hills. Roy has worked with the Challenged Athletes Foundation, the LA Friends of Beit Issie Shapiro, and the Beth Jacob Synagogue Israeli Victims of Terror Committee. Roy devotes his time to TMCC's Nominating and Development Committees.

The Maple Counseling Center News: Summer 2014

Counselor & Volunteer Appreciation Breakfast

Volunteers are the backbone of TMCC! Each Spring, we take a moment to thank our wonderful interns, older adult peer counselors and Community Circle leaders. While enjoying breakfast at Kate Mantilini on May 7, guests heard from speakers including Board President Jeff Lapin, children from Community Circle classrooms, clinical staff, and interns. View photos from the event here.

Save the Date! TMCC's Masquerade Ball

Debra Fine, a Founder of the Finline Foundation for Victims of Trauma, is prior CEO of nonprofit Project Access, a partner of Finline Labs/Marketing and is a member of YPO. She is a moderator for Women's International Network Lean In and Regional Chair for the Disadvantaged Kids and Musicians Network. In 2013, Debra survived a mass shooting at Santa Monica College, where she was shot four times putting herself between the shooter and two community members. Debra will draw on her experience as a nonprofit leader and mental health advocate to actively advance the mission of TMCC.

Sarah Jackson, founder of Seven Summits Pictures and Management, has led a long career in management representing many celebrated and interesting actors, writers and directors. She is working to expand awareness of TMCC's good work in the greater Los Angeles area. Sarah has two children and serves on the Foundation Board of Women in Film.

Joyce Levine, a longtime resident of Beverly Hills and a retired CPA, serves as TMCC's Vice President of Finance. Currently serving as treasurer of the Friends of the Beverly Hills Public Library, Joyce is a past treasurer of Temple Emanuel of Beverly Hills, Beverly Hills High School, and local PTA chapters.

Join us for an evening celebrating the work of The Maple Counseling Center on Thursday, October 23 at Montage Beverly Hills. Help us unmask the stigma of mental illness!

For information on sponsorships and tables, please contact Development Director Jamie Powell at (310) 271-9999 x204 or jpowell@tmcc.org.

Thank you to our event sponsor:

Mercedes-Benz
of Beverly Hills

Easy Ways to Support TMCC While You Shop

Register at www.ralphs.com to give back to TMCC every time you buy groceries.

Sign up here and a portion of sales goes to TMCC.

Shop AmazonSmile and we'll automatically earn donations!